

American Filler Metals Launches Dynamic – Customer Friendly Website

American Filler Metals launched their new website in July 2003. The site was built utilizing automated tracking tools to further enhance customer communications and updates. All requests made through <http://www.amfiller.com> will be tracked online throughout the process to ensure our customers receive the information they need on a timely basis.

American Filler Metal On the Move

American Filler Metals will be relocating to a 40,000 square foot facility within the next few months to accommodate our expanding inventory needs. This move will further ensure customer satisfaction in all areas.

American Filler Metals ISO Certification Updates

We are in the process of updating our ISO certifications from ISO9002-1994 edition to ISO-2000. This upgrade will be complete by year end 2003. For additional information on this upgrade, please email us at chris@amfiller.com
